Criminal Justice Administration is a management course in criminal justice. During this course, the various organizational styles are broken down, focusing on bureaucracy, hierarchy, and management styles seen in criminal justice organizations. A discussion of the differences between leadership and management then lead the class into the study of various theories of communication, motivation and leadership that can be transferred to the work place by students as they begin their various careers in criminal justice.

Learning objectives are:

1) To understand and apply the basic concepts associated with criminal justice administration and organizations.
2) To be able to analyze the impact of relationships, politics and the environment on criminal justice organizations.
3) To critically think and apply the concepts learned in real world situations.
4) To evaluate the value of community service.
5) To become prepared for professional practicum through the application of previous classroom experience and course content.